Snider Named As Editor Of Kentucky Kernel For Quarter; Conway Is Managing Editor

Betty Jane Pugh
Gets News Post
Next Period

Patricia Snider, Bloomfield junior, was chosen editor of The Kernel to succeed Bob Ammons, Lexington, at a meeting of the Board of Student Publications yesterday afternoon.

Selected to work with Miss Snider on the editorial staff were Betty Jane Pugh, Lexington junior, as news editor and Robert Conway, Ashland junior, as managing editor. They will succeed Jim Woodriddle, Hopkinsville, and Harold Winn, Marion, respectively.

Jay Wilson, Mayfield junior, was elected business manager, the position formerly held by Bob Hillenmeyer, Lexington.

George Barker, Lexington, was chosen by Wilson to serve as advertising manager. He worked this year as an advertising staff member.

STAFF MEMBERS

Appointed by Miss Snider are Bob Adair, Lexington, sports editor; Louis Sawin, Lexington, make-up editor; Celia Bederman, Lexington, assistant managing editor; and Mary Norma Weatherspoon, Fulton, assistant news editor.

Serving for the past two years as reporter and assistant news editor, Miss Snider has been president of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honorary fraternity, and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary.

Miss Pugh, who has also served during the past two years as a reporter and assistant news editor, has served as a member of the social committee of the Student Government association, as president of Alpha Xi Delta, social sorority, and as secretary of Theta Sigma Phi. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Owens, Panhellenic council and the Women's Administrative council.

REPORTER CONWAY

A journalism junior, Conway is enrolled as an advanced R. O. T. C. military student and has served as a reporter on the Kernel staff.

Wilson, the newly elected editor of the summer Kernel, is a member of Lances, Patterson Literary society, and a former member of the men's glee club and the radio studio staff.

Subject to ratification by the Student Legislature, the new staff will assume office immediately with exception of the business manager who will begin duties September 1.

Miller To Conduct Open Class Today

Professor Florence Miller, instructor in Social Work, will conduct the next to the last open class of the semester, and will lecture on "The Delinquent Child in the Community" the fifth hour in room 326, McVey Hall, this afternoon.

The attendance to open classes has been good; 226 visitors have already visited these classes and there will be two more. There were ten open classes last semester and thirteen this one. According to a report turned into the arts and sciences faculty, Monday, total attendance to date is 621 visitors.

Second Battalion To Parade Today

Continuing the spring parades of the military department, the second battalion, companies E, F, and G will drill the seventh hour today on the University parade grounds in front of the Administration building. Sponsors and half the band will participate.

Letters To Student's Parents Tells Of UK's War Efforts

"The University is cooperating in the war effort in many ways, but chiefly by establishing a regular Summer Quarter to permit students to finish college sooner," stated President Herman L. Donovan of the University of Kentucky, in letters sent to parents of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors now enrolled at the University.

"The University wants students to graduate or to go so far as possible with their college work." The government wants this. "We believe most parents do," President Donovan added.

President Donovan believes that now, more than ever before, there is wide spread need for college men and women, both at home and on the armed fronts. Thousands of young men and women will be needed in the next few years to take the places of men in the schools, shops, banks, government agencies, and perhaps on the farms and in the factories.

He concluded, "Most of you will find it possible to send your son or daughter to the University this summer. We hope that you will. It will help the University if you do but—far more important—it will help your country."

The letter enclosed a sheet showing how the Summer Quarter affects the time of graduation.

Normally a high school graduate would enter in September, 1942, and would graduate in June, 1946, but under the war program he enters June 11, 1942, and finished June, 1945.

Freshman, and sophomores, already enrolled will be able to graduate a full year ahead of normal times. And juniors entering the senior class in June will graduate in March, 1943.

Birk, Akers Receive Vice-Presidency; Legislators To Be Elected Tuesday

By MARY NORMAN
Kernel News Editor

True to Kentucky tradition the Student Government presidential election Tuesday was contested and after the verbal shooting had died away the election board ruled that a new balloting would be held. Next Tuesday students will again be given a chance to choose between Jim Collier and Givens Dixon.

Marvin Akers and Jane Birk, Independents, were declared victors in the vice-presidential election which was ruled valid.

Official statement of the election committee said:

The election committee was unable to declare a winner in the presidential race of the Student Government Association because of the fact that a great number of ballots were not voted properly and a dispute arose as to these votes.

It was felt that in fairness to both candidates a new election should and will be held on April 28, 1942, in conjunction with the election of members to the legislature.

Marvin Akers was declared the victor in the men's vice-presidential race and Jane Birk in the women's vice-presidential race.

Explicit instructions will be given to voters, and students have been asked to read the ballots carefully so that none will be deemed void. Rules announced for the previous election will be followed for Tuesday's balloting.

Polling places have been located conveniently in each college and students are warned by the election board that they will not be allowed to vote at any place other than that designated for their college.

Any student whose name does not appear in the Student Directory must present a signed statement from his dean certifying that he is enrolled in the college at which he desires to vote, according to a statement from the election board.

Voting places and students to be in charge are:

College of Arts and Sciences, post office, McVey hall, in charge of Bob Ammons and Ben Sublette;
College of Commerce, White hall, in charge of Arthur Walsh and Helen Powell;
College of Agriculture and Home Economics, agriculture building, in charge of Joe Gayle;
College of Education, education building, in charge of Miriam Krayer;

College of Law, Lafferty hall, in charge of Foster Ockerman.

College of Engineering, engineering building, in charge of Stanley Penna;

Graduate School, post office, McVey hall, in charge of R. P. Adams. All polls opened today at 8 a. m. and will close at 5 p. m., except for the McVey hall which opened at 8:30.

ELIGIBLE STUDENTS

Students eligible as candidates for representatives to the legislature have been announced by the election board.

Law college representative, Marcus Redwine;
Education college representative, Mary Godman and Louise Peak;
Engineering senior representative, A. H. Sawyer, William Schick, Billy Patton, and Jack Sheehan; Engineering underclass representative, James Satterfield, Radliff.

Kernel Flooded With Letters As Students Protest Abolition Of The Senior Edition

Largest number of letters received by THE KERNEL since the much discussed O'Bannon controversy two years ago flooded the office this week as student after student sent in protests against the recent abolition of the Senior Edition.

Space restrictions have forced the omission of a few; others have been asked not to run because they were confused as to the degree to which THE KERNEL is regulated by the director of publications, and the director felt that the charges that the policy of the paper is "dictated" or is conducted "undemocratically" were not based on fact.—THE EDITOR.

'Angrily Protests'

To The Editor of The Kernel: I am using this letter as a means of angrily protesting against what I regard as a gross violation of students' right in the recent decision of Dr. Neil Plummer, director of student publications, to discontinue publication of the annual senior edition.

In his proclamation of explanation, the good Doctor states that the Senior Edition has "been a hastily thrown together paper edited by a handful of students." If this is true, then I must say that last year's Senior Edition was the doggone best paper I have ever observed and personally I would sincerely recommend to all editors of all newspapers that they publish their papers in the same hurried manner.

The Senior Edition is a grand spring tonic for what ails us. Does it not prick the inflated egos of some, stir others from their lethargic acceptance of the bad with the good, cause us to laugh at the stupidly ridiculous, and upset the dignified stances of the humbugs, the fatheads, and the blunderers?

I realize that there have always been some rather thin skinned people among the student body, the faculty, and the University administration who, to be damned blunt, "just couldn't take it." I realize that those people have become increasingly irritated with each new issue of the Senior Edition. But I believe that to the great majority of the students the paper was a lot of fun intended for a grand laugh in all circles.

Like the editor of The Kernel, I also realize and am equally conscious of the futility of this article, but I could not sit idly by and watch this incident without at least loudly protesting against the rank injustice of this uncalled for action by the University administration.

H. R. WHITE, JR.

To the Board of Student Publications:
WE WANT OUR SENIOR EDITION!!

For years the Kernel has been published by and for the student body. It has been a tradition that each year there would be one publication in which the senior journalism students have the opportunity of contributing their last words before leaving school. Why is the Publications Board afraid to sponsor this edition—why rob the students of their biggest laughs of the year.

It seems to us that at a time like this, when we are engaged in the defense of democracy, that it is a slap in the face for such undemocratic censorship to be found on the campus of an American university.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS?
HUH!

Surely no one has a guilty conscience and is afraid of this edition! It seems most peculiar that after all these years they have suddenly decided to abolish such a traditional "fun sheet."

Members of the Board, can you truthfully say that the Senior Edition does any harm? Won't you reconsider? WE WANT IT!

Sees No Reason

To the Editor of The Kernel: Is The Kernel student owned or Plummer operated?

It seems to me that the student newspaper should have freedom of the press and not be "edited" by a college professor of journalism.

If the seniors desire to put out a senior edition and poke a little harmless fun at fellow students and their profs., I can see no reason for the abolishment of it.

Yours for freedom of the press,
HENRY WATTERSON II

'Not Fooled'

To The Editor of The Kernel: Does Dr. Plummer think he's fooling anyone by those naive reasons in Tuesday's Kernel for the abolition of the Senior Edition?

Any of us who read last year's Senior Edition knows why it was cut out.

If Dr. Plummer has the nerve to say the real reason for the action—that the paper happened to step on a few toes in the administration and faculty—then why doesn't he come out and say so, instead of giving such obviously strained reasons. We're not fooled.

Campus Elections Take On Harlan County Appearance

VICE OF THE PEOPLE

BY ROY STEINFORT

Cuffnotes of an innocent politician: The University political situation has turned Harlan County. Recently it took four elections to settle the wet-dry issue in Harlan, and now it appears that it will take at least that many to select an SGA president. . . . One engineering student, a Collier supporter, relates this story: They asked me who I was voting for and I said Collier. . . . The student handling the poll said, "Give me your ballot, this box is just for Dixon votes."

The Delts were so enthused over the election that they forgot a softball game with a rival Greek lodge Tuesday afternoon. . . . The propaganda produced by both sides had students muttering, "Uh, huh, I've heard this one before."

If you did, however, read the issues of both parties, and you had knowledge of the situation, you could easily spot a vote getter—an issue in common. . . . Both sides advocated freedom of the press.

This is Bob Ammons' last edition of The Kernel as editor. . . . Whether you have agreed with his editorial policy or not, you have to agree that he was a good editor, journalistically speaking. . . . The recent KIPA convention settled that issue. With a staff of 17 reporters, it is difficult to cover a large campus. . . . In previous years The Kernel

To the Editor of The Kernel: I wish to protest very strongly the abolition of the Senior Edition of the Kernel. It is the one issue that I look forward to as a source of good humor at the expense of students and faculty, not hurting anybody if it is taken as it is meant, in good clean fun.

I cannot see that any of the reasons advanced for its abolition are worthy or even sensible and unless more reasonable reasons are set forth, I feel that the edition should be published this year as usual.

I feel that I am in agreement with the majority of students in this matter, and I say—Let's have our Senior edition back—let's not censor that TOO!

Tying Up The Loose Ends

This is the last KERNEL which I will edit. Starting next Tuesday, the new staff will take over, and I will be back among the ranks of the readers, not the writers.

And so today, as is the custom, I am going to wind up all the loose ends in one last editorial and then bow out.

First, if the reader will permit the immodesty, I would like to ring in a personal note. I would not do it except that several persons have asked me why I am not going to do THE KERNEL next year, and I have heard several rumors making the rounds which are 100 per cent false.

I have not been "fired" and I have not quit. I am dropping from the editor's post at the usual time. The end of my year is up, that's all.

I did not apply for editor next year because I didn't want to, and why I didn't want to are my own personal reasons.

In some of the letters printed on today's editorial page are several mentioning "censorship" of THE KERNEL, and I would like to take this opportunity for setting the record straight. During the major portion of this year, the policy of THE KERNEL has been 100 per cent the policy of its editor. Although I sometimes received criticisms or comments after publication—which is fair enough practice in any man's country—there were no restrictions whatsoever before the paper was published. This is certainly a liberal enough policy, and KERNEL editors have always been proud of the trust put in their judgment.

This "freedom of the press," if that is what you want to call it, has for many years been granted THE KERNEL by the director of student publications who, by action of the Board of Trustees (October, 1937) is held personally responsible for THE KERNEL and everything that appears in it.

In the future, however, we are informed, this policy will not be carried out to the extent which it has been in the past. For about the past month, the judgment of the student editor has not been considered final, and it will not be so in the future. The director of publications has announced that he plans to exercise more fully the powers of regulation given him by the Board of Trustees.

These powers of regulation could conceivably extend to a requirement that all editorial matter be submitted for approval—but to date they have not been exercised to that extent. In the past month there have been several paragraphs cut out of an editorial, several letters which have not been allowed to run, and occasional "advice" to the editor to moderate this, or to state that differently. This—as far as it has gone—has been more regulation than there has been in the past four years of THE KERNEL at least. Although it perhaps is not as great a faculty participation as there is at some other schools, it—as well as the recent ruling which abolished the Senior Edition—is clear enough evidence that THE KERNEL is no longer "100 per cent student operated."

Since it has been decided that in the future, where the judgment of the faculty adviser and the judgment of the student editor conflict, the adviser's opinion will be followed, it might be valuable to observe the points where the editor's judgment this year was questioned. The main cases have been (1) An editorial protesting the faculty's ruling on the SGA amendment; (2) One suggesting revision of a University ruling; (3) Two editorials, written at the height of the anti-labor feeling, in which we presented labor's side of the controversy; (4) Publishing a SGA welfare committee's investigation of the residence halls, before the report was submitted to the faculty; (5) An article which almost involved the paper in a libel suit; and (6) generally, the "destructive" or fault-finding tenor of the editorial page in general.

Of these, one—the allegedly libelous piece—should not have gotten in the paper. But as for the others, and for the general trouble-hunting spirit, we are not a bit ashamed. We would run every one of them again tomorrow if the occasion came up.

Under the new system we might not have been allowed to print some of them—at least, if we had, it would have been after a long talk with the faculty adviser and probably the changing of some language here and there, so they would not be so "outspoken."

Perhaps this is justifiable, perhaps not. At any rate, we know it would take a great deal of the "kick" out of editing any man's paper.

It is the same general feeling, I would say, that caused such a lack of interest in petitioning for the student legislature this spring, after the administration's stand on the degree to which student government will be allowed to function on its own judgment.

On the whole, THE KERNEL this year has been under a handicap. Where we usually had—before the war—30 to 40 members on the staff, the past few months we have been working with only 17. We have had to do many things which were not the best journalism because we didn't have the staff available to do them right.

The people next year will have a hard time of it too, and I'd like to pause a minute on the way out to ask the people who have dealings with THE KERNEL to consider the big job the folks have to do with limited facilities, and not to get so wrought up when their stories do not get in exactly the way they want them.

So that about winds up my term as editor, and I have to leave now. Although I still have a thousand things to say, I only have room to say thanks to everyone who has helped make this year's KERNEL—in spite of all the trouble we have had—a world of fun to do: to Johnny Carrio, Wynne McKinney, Jim Brown, Bob Meagher, and Allenby Winer, now all in the armed forces somewhere; the folks back in the news room—Jim Wooldridge, Pat Snider, Betty Pugh, Harold Winn, and Roy Steinfort; the hard-working but little-credited boys in the print shop—Jim Carroll, LeGrand Hatcher, Kay Jones, John Disney, and Ed Swift; the one-deadline-a-year people in the Kentucky office; all the other people who have dropped in on press days or nights to gripe with us and laugh with us and pass on the latest rumors.

And to everyone else, it's goodbye and thanks for listening.

—BOB AMMONS

Townspeople Don't Understand Edition

To the Editor of The Kernel: The one thing that seniors look forward to is the senior edition of The Kernel. It really is harmless fun; the students laugh with us when it comes out. Now it seems that we are not to be permitted this.

Why? Some one doesn't want to take the trouble to censor the edition.

The alumnae and townspeople do not understand that the paper is the Senior Edition—that is the explanation given the staff and students.

As for the alumnae, there has always been a senior edition. Surely they haven't forgotten that. And the townspeople—can't they enjoy a little fun, too?

Unless better reasons than the above can be given for abolishing the senior edition of The Kernel, I, and most of the student body, still want it.

Four Undefeated Teams Lead In Intramural Softball

Phi Sigs, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigs, SAE Lead The Loop In Games Won

Four teams remain undefeated in both the fraternity and independent leagues, as the field passes the half-way pole, and heads for home. SAE is pacing the attack in division one with three wins and no losses, followed by Phi Sig with two wins and no losses. Division 2 find Sigma Nu on top, 3-0, with Kappa Sig closely behind boasting two wins. One of the two latter teams will topple this afternoon, when the high flying Sigma Nus face Kappa Sig. All independent teams have been defeated at least once.

SAEs WIN EASILY

SAE found the Sigma Chis an easy mark Monday afternoon, the game being called at the end of the fifth since the winners were so far ahead. The final tally showed Sigma Chi trailing, 7-27. Every member of the SAE team turned in a splendid performance at bat. Sutherland, Triplett, Young, and Guthrie came through with circuit clouts to aid the winners in keeping their average runs scored above 18 a game.

Phi Sig showed unusual power at the plate as they outscored the Triangles, 20-13, in a thrill a minute ball game. Lane, Triangle second basemen, took hitting honors with a triple, two doubles and a single out of five trips, and Witten's triple, and double paced the winners. Several errors meant runs to both teams.

ATOs WIN

ATO and Phi Delt were the only two teams to play Tuesday, and high scoring was the chief factor in this encounter. Although it very seldom happens in diamond ball, ATO had the tremendous score of 41 against three for the Phi Delt. The game was called at the end of the fifth. Mando Angelucci, ace ATO hurler, got off to a shaky start, but handcuffed the losers the last four innings. Manager Walsh led the track meet with two triples and two circuit clouts. Kappa Sig, and Sigma Nu won from the Delt and Gamma Taus on forfeits.

KAUFMAN'S

KERNEL SPORTS

The Sporting Way

BY BOB ADAIR

The Wildcat tennis team, which meets Notre Dame at South Bend today in the last game of its Northern swing, suffered an unexpected defeat Tuesday afternoon on the home courts . . . Not only was the 8-1 licking at the hands of the Miami (Florida) University squad unexpected, but the match was unexpected also . . . Last October, Dr. H. H. Downing, Cat coach, answered Miami's negotiations for a match, but he never received an acknowledgement of acceptance . . . Thinking the match would not be played, Dr. Downing was preparing his racquetters for their current trip when he received word Monday that the Miami team would arrive here Tuesday . . . There was nothing the Cats could do but play the Floridians.

"Ole Man Mose" (Lieutenant Frank Moseley now) visited the campus Monday for the first time since his departure for navy duty . . . The Wildcat assistant grid mentor is on leave of absence from the University and is occupied with coaching in the navy's physical-ed program at the University of Georgia at present . . . Mose has applied for sea duty and hopes to go into active service aboard ship soon.

Explaining the 19-5 setback suffered by his baseballers at the hands of Ohio State Monday, Coach Bill Black said, "We made six errors and they five, but ours came at times when it hurt and theirs came when it didn't cost 'em." . . . That much was evident from the fact that the Buckeyes scored 19 runs on only 15 hits, while the Wildcats tallied five times on eight safeties . . . The diamond squad, which was too small at the outset, has now dwindled to only 13 men . . . Noah Mullin is believed to be ineligible and Gus Green gave up the sport to devote more time to his studies.

We think it was a good thing that the Southeastern conference put the foot down on the move to make freshmen eligible for varsity athletics . . . Lots of freshmen flunk out of school in the first year and if these guys were allowed to play in varsity athletics, every rough-neck and his brother would come to college just to play one year.

"Bunzy" O'Neil will probably hurl for Tennessee in today's opening tilt of the two-game series with the Wildcats . . . The Vol football, basketball, and baseball star has already been tabbed for a big league try-out when he graduates this year . . . Now that the Vols are here, that reminds us that we haven't heard any loud bellows from R. C. Smith, the guy who put up the "holer-royal" in the Tennessee Orange and White during basketball season . . . We still wade through his column twice a week, but it seems that Smitty has finally resorted to talking about the Vols instead of the Wildcats . . . Maybe this two-game series will bring about something that will get a rise out of the old boy.

WILDCAT TEAMS
SEE ACTION

Three Kentucky athletic teams, beside the baseball team, which plays here today and tomorrow, see action this week-end.

Coach S. A. (Daddy) Boles' golf team plays host of the University of Cincinnati linksmen on the Ashland Golf Club course this afternoon. The undefeated Cats took a 11½ to 6½ decision from Michigan here last Saturday in their last start.

The Wildcat tennis squad, coached by Dr. H. H. Downing, is now a three-game northern trip. The racquetters were to have met Wayne University at Detroit yesterday and are carded with Michigan State at East Lansing today. Tomorrow, the squad engages Notre Dame at South Bend.

The other team which will be active this week-end is the track team, coached by Joe Rupert. The harriers will meet the Tennessee Volunteers at Knoxville tomorrow. In their opening meet last Saturday, the trackmen lost to Vanderbilt 76½ to 35½.

Vols Invade 'Cat Lair
For Two - Game Series

By BOB ADAIR
Kernel Sports Editor

Most people thought the feud between the South's two most bitter rivals, Kentucky and Tennessee, was over for the year when the Vols were eliminated in the Southeastern conference basketball tournament. But most people were wrong, because the Vols invade the Wildcat lair today to open a two-game series with Coach Bill Black's unpredictable baseball team. The two teams are scheduled to clash at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and will meet again tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Smarting from their worst defeat of the season, a 19-5 shellacking spread on by Ohio State at Columbus Monday, the Wildcats have practiced three days this week in preparation for the Tennessee series. But at best the "Black Cats" have shown little improvement in these drill sessions. They committed six errors at Columbus, but if that performance could be compared to Wednesday's practice, they looked great against the Buckeyes. Wednesday afternoon, the infield couldn't field even the easiest type of ground balls and not once did the Cats go through the whole infield warm-up without an error. Coach Black finally gave up and sent the boys to the showers.

Black indicated that Jim "Christy" Mathewson would get the starting nod for today's game, but gave no indication as to what hurler would twirl 'em at the Vols tomorrow.

If Marvin "Big Train" Akers and Foster "Tobacco Kid" Spence don't have to be called upon for relief work today, one or the other will be the likely choice tomorrow.

The remainder of the Cat lineup will probably be Milt Tocco, 1b; Frank "Yardbird" Bauer, 2b; Bruce Boehler, 3b; Phil Cutchin, ss; Randy Hammer, 1f; Playing-manager Black, cf; Johnny "Car Check" Kurachek, rf; and Charlie "Coon Dog" Kuhn, c.

Coach Johnny Mauer of Tennessee is expected to send his ace pitcher, Bunzy O'Neil, to the mound in today's game. O'Neil has already been tabbed for a major league try-out upon his graduation in June.

The Wildcats' loss to the Buckeyes was their third of the year as against one victory. The Ohioans outbit the 'Cats 15-8 and committed five miscues, one less than the Blackman. Akers started for Kentucky but gave way to Spence, who in turn was relieved by Mathewson.
